

BRING STUDENTS' LEARNING TO LIFE

WHAT IS INSPIRING THE FUTURE?

Inspiring the Future (ITF) is a nationwide campaign that calls CEO's to Apprentices to spare one hour a year to share their career story and the route they took with students in schools. Teachers search for volunteers registered in their area, and send an email invitation through the ITF secure platform. ITF began in the UK where it has connected over 30,000 volunteers with over one million students. Now it's time for Australia.

HOW DOES ITF WORK?

ITF functions as a free resource to enrich students' experience of careers and highlight the value of a good education. Volunteers from Archaeologists to Zoologists sign up to spare one hour a year to speak to young people. Sign up as a teacher and search on the platform to see who has volunteered near you!

HOW DO STUDENTS BENEFIT FROM ITF?

- learn about new career options and pathways
- gain motivation to apply themselves to school and select subjects wisely
- aspirations raised and resilience strengthened
- workplace gender stereotypes challenged
- enhanced relevance of school subjects to their future career

WHAT CAN VOLUNTEERS DO IN YOUR SCHOOL?

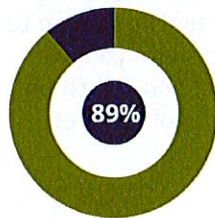

The opportunities for volunteer involvement are endless; invite engineers, accountants and programmers to maths classes, chefs to hospitality or speechwriters to english class. Be creative and inspire your class to fulfil their potential!

Some suggested volunteer activities:

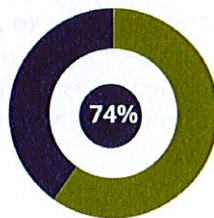

career talks	resume writing	primary numeracy
mock interviews	primary reading	contribute to projects
speed career networking	careers fair	skill workshops

WHY SHOULD I SIGN UP FOR ITF?

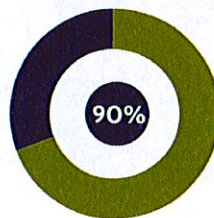

According to research statistics from Inspiring the Future in the UK:

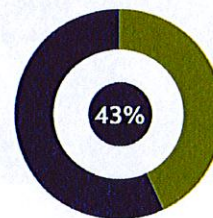

89% of young people learned something new and useful about the career path they wish to follow

74% said the event had motivated them to study harder

90% of young people gathered more information about their options for after education

43% felt more confident in what they wanted to do in the future after the event

“As a result of our Inspiring the Future event, the students were inspired, challenged and motivated to make the most of every opportunity given to them and demonstrate a good attitude in whatever they do”
