GOVERNANCE

Independent schools are generally not-for-profit institutions founded by groups in the community. All Independent schools are registered with the relevant state or territory education authorities.

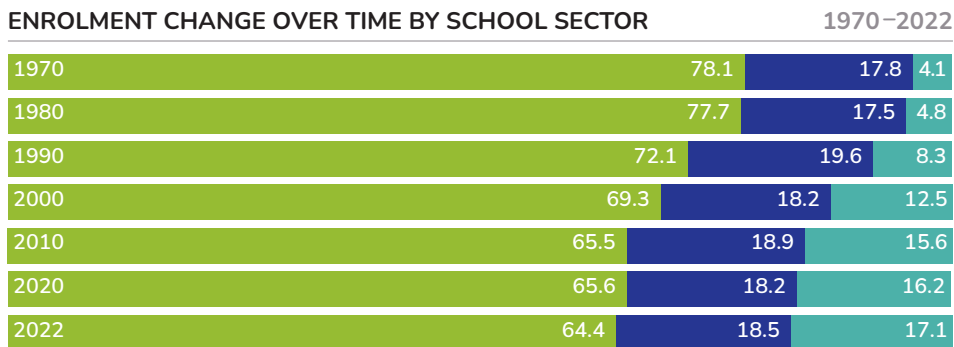

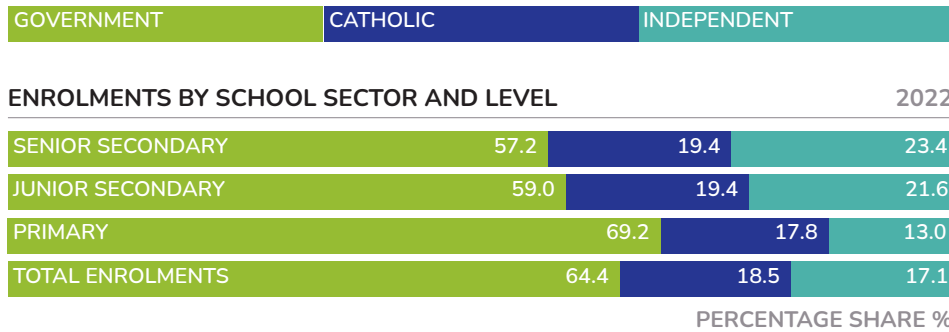

Independent schools are primarily accountable to their parent and school communities.

About 17 per cent of Independent schools operate within an approved system authority. These include the Anglican, Lutheran or Seventh Day Adventist Systems.

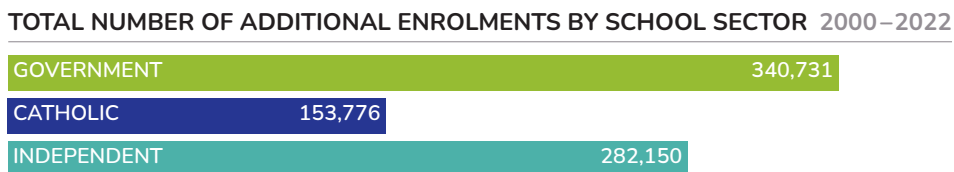

All Independent schools comply with relevant state and federal education legislation and regulation.

STUDENT ENROLMENTS

The rate of growth of the Independent school sector has been increasing. In 2022, enrolments in Independent schools grew by 3.2 per cent.

GOVERNMENT FUNDING OF INDEPENDENT SCHOOLS

Government funding for schools is provided by the Australian Government and state and territory governments. The Australian Government is the main government funding source for non-government schools, providing 79 per cent of total government recurrent funding while states and territories provide 21 per cent. State and territory governments are the main funding source for government schools. The proportions of private/government funding vary greatly from school to school.

FUNDING MODEL

The current Australian Government funding model for schools, the Schooling Resource Standard (SRS) comprises base funding plus loadings to address educational disadvantage. Base funding for Independent schools is adjusted according to the school community's estimated capacity to contribute (CTC) to the costs of education, assessed on parental income tax data. This methodology is known as the Direct Measure of Income (DMI). Schools with a higher CTC score receive less per capita base funding.

AUSTRALIAN GOVERNMENT CAPITAL GRANTS PROGRAM

Australian Government grants are distributed to Independent schools on a needs basis through Block Grant Authorities, with priority given to disadvantaged school communities with the least capacity to raise funds.

It is estimated that grants for the Independent sector in 2022 will total approximately $79 million.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

Independent schools employ more than 19.1 per cent of all teachers in Australian schools. The ratio of student to teachers in Independent schools is the lowest of the school sectors.
